

THE ASHLAND supplemental BRIEF

meet our summer interns...

This year we are pleased to host three new high school summer interns from the Law Links and Hopkins Summer Youth programs; Daisheau (Shea) Player, who is assigned to Employment and Labor Affairs; Edward Bush, assigned to Organizational Equity; and Hope Brown assigned to Compliance/Technology and Commercial Transactions.

The Baltimore City Law Links Internship program is sponsored by the Maryland State Bar Association and the Maryland State Department of Education and is administered through the Citizenship Law-Related Education Program (CLREP) for the Schools of Maryland. The Legal Department is proud of its continued commitment to the program since 2013. The program's mission is:

- ~ To provide paid summer employment for Baltimore City public high school students in law legal settings.
- ~ To provide an opportunity to the students who participate, to learn more about the professional world, the legal system, law office operations and personal interactions through their work experience and the Law & Leadership Institute.
- ~ To encourage the students to pursue higher education as part of their future goals.

Each student was asked, as their first assignment to draft a bio about themselves, and the results are pretty impressive!

~ Daisheau Player

My name is Daisheau ("Shea") Player. I attend Baltimore Polytechnic Institute. Before attending Poly, I attended Atholton High School in Columbia, Maryland. During my freshman and sophomore years at Atholton, I was Color Guard commander for the ceremony and challenge lines. The ceremony line presents the colors at events, parades, and dinners. The challenge line is a competition line for in- and out-of-state competitions. I also played basketball and was captain of the team my sophomore year. I transferred to Poly at the end of my sophomore year. At Poly, I am a part of the National Honors Society, which affords many opportunities for community service and learning experiences. During my senior year, I will be taking AP Literature, AP Calculus BC, AP Art History, AP Chemistry, Physics Honors, and Biology II Honors. The college I would like to attend is Wake Forest University. While in college, I would like to study biochemistry or molecular biology. If I choose to go to law school, I plan to practice as a medical malpractice lawyer. If I don't go to law school, I would like become a biomedical scientist.

I am the second oldest of five. I currently live in Baltimore with my grandma. In my free time, I enjoy playing basketball, exercising, participating in service projects, and listening to music.

~ Edward Bush

My name is Edward Bush III and I attend Reginald F. Lewis High School of Business and Law as a rising senior.

For college, I plan to attend University of Maryland to study psychology and molecular genetics. I've always been fascinated by the complex human mind. Also, because every organism has a unique blueprint, I plan on understanding how to read those blueprints. I see working with JHHS Legal Department as a great opportunity to learn about the legal side of the hospital.

Before joining JHHS legal department, I participated in the Baltimore Urban Debate League (BUDL). As part of BUDL, I engaged in vigorous and educational debates about political topics that affect America. In addition, I enjoy reading books for young adults and learning about diverse and unique cultures in my spare time.

~ Hope Brown

My name is Hope Brown and I am the second oldest out of four. Baltimore is where I was born and raised. I am a junior at Mergenthaler Vocational Technical High School in the Law and Leadership program. I have been interested in the law field since the seventh grade. My passion for law started to grow more once I was accepted into the program Teen Court. Teen Court gave me a hands on experience dealing with cases involving juveniles that are charged with various misdemeanors. I joined more law programs such as Law Links to learn more about all different types of law. I have gotten a wonderful opportunity to intern at Johns Hopkins Health System Legal Department. Through this experience, I hope to gain and learn professionalism and communication skills for my future career in family law.

After college I plan on moving out of Baltimore to New York to pursue my career as a family lawyer. In my free time I love to eat, chicken, bacon, ranch pizza, shop, be around my friends, and explore new places.
