Dear Law Links Supporter:

For 25 years, the Law Links Internship has placed deserving Baltimore City students in paid seven-week summer internships with law firms and legal agencies.

Law firm employers pay the interns' wages out of their pocket, and the Law Links staff provides oversight and weekly seminars to ensure the success of the intern. The applicants are Baltimore City high school students who are motivated to obtain professional work experience that will help them achieve post high school goals. Twenty-five years later, 871 young people have taken a step in the right direction thanks to the continued support and guidance of YOU!

Crucial to the Law Links experience are two things: the provision of proper business attire and the Law & Leadership Institute. Once selected for Law Links, our interns are provided suiting from either Ann Taylor or Joseph A Banks, eliminating a barrier that many students face when considering employment in professional offices.

Like the professional attire, the Law & Leadership Institute is unique to Law Links. Beginning with a 2 1/2 day orientation, and resuming each Wednesday morning for 3 hours throughout the internship. The Institute provides youth an opportunity to dialogue with a number of impressive legal professionals and learn the "soft skills" critical to workplace success—time management, communication, language, etiquette, and more.

Interns will be paid $10.10 hour for both the internship and the Institute. They work the same schedule as your office staff— in most cases, 35-40 hours —for seven weeks, beginning in June 2020 and ending in August of 2020. Law Links staff is available to proactively address any concerns that may arise during the summer; all we ask is that weekly evaluations are sent to keep us apprised of punctuality, work performance, etc.

Please consider this tremendous opportunity to support and create life-changing professional opportunities for youth.

Sincerely,

Shelley Brown
